

ADHD Testing Just Got Clearer

Now offering Creyos ADHD Assessments

A fast, engaging way to measure attention, memory, and executive functioning.

What Is Creyos?

Creyos is a digital cognitive assessment that uses short, interactive tasks to measure how your brain is functioning.

It helps your clinician better understand areas related to ADHD, including:

- Ability to focus
- Working memory
- Planning & organization
- Processing speed
- Impulse control

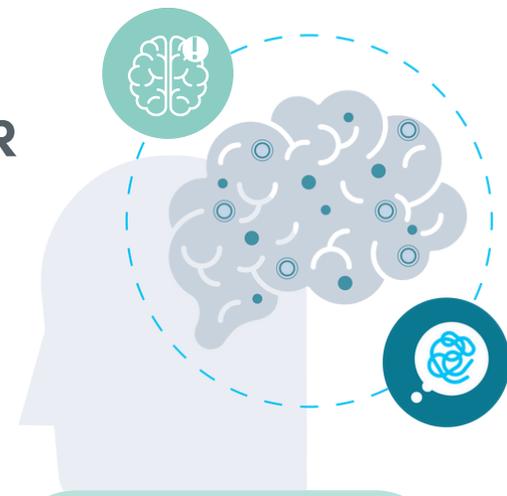

Why We Use It:

ADHD symptoms can be hard to describe. Creyos adds objective data to help support your evaluation.

It helps your clinician:

- ✓ Identify patterns in attention and executive functioning
- ✓ Build a clearer picture of your cognitive strengths and challenge
- ✓ Establish a baseline before treatment
- ✓ Track your progress over time

What the Test Is Like

- ✓ Takes 20–30 minutes
- ✓ Done on a computer or tablet
- ✓ Uses simple, game-like tasks
- ✓ Results are reviewed together with clinician

Who It's For

- Anyone wanting clearer insight into their cognitive functioning
- Administered to evaluate baseline ADHD symptoms in conjunction with provider evaluation or monitor response to medication adjustments.
- Adults who suspect ADHD
- Teens & students struggling with school
- Individuals starting or adjusting treatment
